

PILLARS LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

APPLICATION INFORMATION

The Pillars Leadership Training Program of the American Institute of Architects Kansas City prepares a representative cross section of the chapter's emerging leaders and individuals from the building community for their role in shaping the future of both the architectural profession and the greater Kansas City metropolitan area. The training program includes active participation in programs and exposure to community leaders and issues. Applications are accepted for the program once each year. Criteria for acceptance include proven career success and community involvement. The class will spend their time exploring core issues that affect our profession and the region within which we practice. Through discussions with leaders and colleagues, dialogue among themselves, tours and research the group will be able to understand and present to the AIA as a whole how we can make a positive change within our community. The AIA Kansas City Pillars program is a nationally recognized program for its originality and depth and has inspired similar AIA leadership studies in other US cities. The program continues to raise the bar of what young professionals want out of their profession and how we as professionals can make an impact on our built environment.

Participation

Participation in Pillars will be limited to a maximum of 16 participants: AIA Kansas City members (Associate AIA or AIA), recruited from the emerging professional demographic within the chapter, and up to five candidates from professions other than architects in the construction industry (i.e. contractor, engineer, developer, etc). Participants will be selected on the basis of a written application, recommendations, and personal interviews. Successful applicants will represent a diverse group of people, each with strong potential as a future leader in the profession and the community. Each participant must be a current AIA Kansas City member and will be sponsored by a AIA Kansas City Member Firm, as evidenced by a signature below from the firm's managing principal. AIA Kansas City Member Firms with less than 100 architecture staff (licensed or unlicensed) who qualify for AIA membership, may only submit one applicant. AIA Kansas City Member Firms with 100 or more architecture staff (licensed or unlicensed) who qualify for AIA membership, may submit up to two architect applicants.

Application options for large firms include:

1. One architecture employee
2. Two architecture employees
3. One non-architecture employee

Firm size will be verified prior to the interview process.

For the non-architect applicants, you or your firm must be a Professional Affiliate member or Cornerstone Partner of AIA Kansas City and you may submit one applicant.

Time Commitment

The monthly task force meetings will be held on a day selected by the group from 12pm – 5pm, August through May. If a participant is in charge of planning a session, there will be additional time commitment needed to arrange for speakers, etc. In addition to monthly meetings, all participants are required to participate in 10 hours of community service to be coordinated by the Pillars class. It is imperative for the success of the program that all members attend every session and attendance is mandatory. Each member will be allowed one excused absence. If two sessions are missed, a fine of $50 will be sent to the firm. A third absence will result in a $100 fine and expulsion from the program.

Tuition and funding

Tuition is $950 per participant and covers luncheons, administrative fees, and other miscellaneous meeting expenses. Half scholarships are available to four participants from small firms (5 or fewer employees) or who are sole proprietors.
